

spinning

what is it that bothers you in the afternoons after a hearty meal when my blood flows to my head causing a disfunction of sorts; I see the spinning of the world for what it is, nothing but a symbol of the mission we were appointed to without having any say in the matter:
to live a life and to die a death
